MISSOULA--

Dr. Frank Greenwood, director of the Computer Center at the University of Montana in Missoula, has resigned effective Friday, Aug. 9, to accept an appointment as professor of business administration at Creighton University, Omaha, Neb.

When Greenwood was hired by UM on Aug. 1, 1972, separate academic and administrative computer centers were operating on the UM campus. Under Greenwood's direction, the two centers were combined into one which utilizes the new DECsystem-10 computer exclusively.

Greenwood received his bachelor's degree from Bucknell University, Lewisburg, Pa., in 1950; his master's degree from the University of Southern California, Los Angeles, in 1959; and his doctorate in management and statistics from the University of California, Los Angeles, in 1963.

He is the author of numerous articles and several books, as well as being a regular columnist for "COMPUTERWORLD."

UM President Richard C. Bowers said an interim UM Computer Center director would be appointed by the end of this week. A permanent replacement for Greenwood probably will not be made until Jan. 1, 1975, Bowers said.
